

Brian J. Rudick, Esq. Chief Financial Officer of Harford Heights, initially became involved in the family business as a student at the original Hamilton area Harford Heights Child Care facility in the 1970's.

A graduate of The Boys' Latin School, Brian later graduated from the Univ. of Delaware earning a BS in Economics.

While in college Brian continued to learn the family business and assisted his father with the administration of the facilities. He continued to assist behind the scenes, while he furthered his education, first earning his MBA at The Johns Hopkins University, and then his JD from The University of Baltimore.

Graduating in the top 5% of his class, Brian passed the Maryland bar and began practicing business law, while continuing to help with the business operations of Harford Heights.

With the passing of his father in 2015, Brian is now privileged to continue the family legacy, assuming the business, financial, and operational tasks that his father used to perform.
